Speaker

Michelle Dickerson, PhD(c), RN, RNC-NIC, RNC-MNN, RN-BC, CBC

Michelle has been a child health nurse for almost 20 years. She has practiced bedside at a Level 3 NICU and with mother and baby for over 10 years. She has also served as a nurse educator for maternal child health for almost 10 years. Additionally, she has been a clinical instructor for maternal child health and pediatrics and has taught courses at several state universities. Michelle graduated from the University of Phoenix with her BSN in 2007 and her MSN in Nursing Education in 2012. She is certified in high-risk neonatal intensive care nursing and in maternal child health nursing. She is part of the Academy of Neonatal Nurses, National Association of Neonatal Nurses (NANN) and the National Association of Neonatal Nurses Education Provider Committee.

MED-ED reserves the right to substitute an equally qualified speaker if necessary.

Course Overview

Presented in lecture format, this course reviews topics for the Maternal Newborn Nursing Exam by the National Certification Corporation (NCC). Elements of the examination are discussed, followed by a review of the content. The major components include pregnancy and birth risk factors, along with complications. It includes maternal and newborn assessment, management and education, along with complications during the postpartum and neonatal periods.

Program Learning Outcomes

This program prepares the learner to:

- Self-report a gain in knowledge of the maternal newborn patient population at an 80% rate as well as the confidence to pass the exam
