Speaker

Kristen Luttenberger, MSN, RN, CCRN-CMC, PCCN, APN-C

Kristen's has nearly 25 years professional experience in pediatrics, medical-surgical, telemetry, intensive and coronary care. She has served as a nurse educator for her entire career, and currently works as a full-time cardiac nurse practitioner. Kristen is triple certified with critical care clinical certifications, holds her nurse practitioner license, and prides herself in working with nurses at the bedside and sitting for those certification exams every 3 years.

Her lectures focus on a variety of topics, but mostly on the current guidelines and evidence for bedside nurses. She has been published three times on evidence-based improvement projects and was the lead writer for her unit's Beacon Award, received four times from AACN. Kristen has spoken at the national level on targeted temperature management and on analyzing the laboratory data on infection.

Course Description and Program Learning Outcomes

This two-day CCRN/PCCN Review is designed for the critical care or progressive care nurse preparing to take either exam from the American Association of Critical-Care Nurses (AACN). The review focuses on anatomy, physiology, pathophysiology and disease management according to the AACN test guide for each exam. Each system review will be followed with sample test questions along with test-taking strategies.

Program Learning Outcomes

This program prepares the learner to:

- Demonstrate the knowledge and confidence to successfully pass the CCRN or PCCN Certification Exam.
- Deduce significant assessments, diagnostic findings, clinical presentations and management strategies of critical care and progressive care patients.
- Solve and evaluate critical-care exam questions.
